LEGAL EAGLES NOT DOVES

Law was one of the first A-Level subjects taught at Immanuel, and the Law Department has sent a lot of students on to study the subject at University.

Hannah Metcalfe who is going to Downing College, Cambridge next month to study Law, took Law as an extra curricular subject passing the GCSE in year 10 (A*), and the AS in year 11 (A).

The new group of year 12 students have started their studies looking at the courts and some types of crime, and have trips to Magistrates' Court and Crown Court planned. Year 13 are researching murder cases. The cases are quite detailed and interesting, so watch out for them dissecting stories in the news!

Any year 9 students who might be interested in starting a GCSE in Law in their time (and ours) should get in touch with Dr Hemingway in 4F3, or Mrs Askham in 4F4.

DOVE TALES

Recently I have been into some year 9 RE classes to talk about Christian Marriage. We have thought about the promises that the bride and groom make to each other. They promise to be faithful as long as they live; to give everything to each other; to love each other in good times and bad.

One student said these promises were 'cheesy' - just completely unreal! We all decided that to make such promises to someone else you either have to be mad or madly in love!

The Marriage Service starts with a verse from the Bible that simply says, 'God is love'. God could be horrible to us but he chooses to be loving to us. Christians believe God is madly in love with us - so madly in love that he sent his only Son to save us, even though it cost his Son his life.

Maybe we should learn from him about what is real love.
