Claudia Hansen

My Online-Gallery includes original and unique artworks painted in an Impressionistic style. The thick impasto technique and the bright colours give the paintings a great vibrancy and brightness. I love nature in all seasons, that's why my artwork is focused on landscapes, flowers and still life. It's the painterly-technique that allows me to paint in an Impressionistic impasto style, creating bold layers of bright colours, one applied atop the other very thickly - mixed partly right on the canvas. When dry, the painting's thick strokes remain visible and the paint appears to be coming out of the canvas. Impasto gives texture to the painting and it becomes almost three-dimensional.

Klaus Boekhoff

Klaus Boekhoff is an oil painter. I really like his work, he paints modern still life, they almost look like pictures. These paintings are very expressive to the objects, this is something to consider when photographing. I really love the amount of detail shown within these paintings, the shading and tones on the cutlery. This shows that they were painted from the real objects other than the mind.
